

Inspired by Takushoku University's traditional pioneering spirit, the College's objective is to nurture well-rounded, talented individuals armed with the practical skills and knowledge to contribute widely to the development of society.

Subject of study

Department of Agricultural Science and Business

Environmental Science and Agriculture Program

In addition to cultivating crops on campus farms and learning agriculture from the basics, we will make full use of greenhouses and laboratories to engage in advanced research based on scientific data.

Regional Development and Business Program

You will systematically learn about regional development while experiencing the economic and social mechanisms through participation in local events and product development.

Department of Early Childhood Education

You can obtain both a childcare worker qualification and a kindergarten teacher's license upon graduation. Through our unique curriculum we will develop the "practical skills" required of childcare workers in a new era.

Transfer system to the third-year class at Takushoku University

Takushoku University Hokkaido College has a transfer-by-recommendation system for entering the third year at Takushoku University. Students who have completed the requisite transfer courses and have met the internal selection criteria for academic performance, etc. can transfer with the recommendation (document screening only) of the college president. (The pass rate for transfer applicants to Takushoku University has been 100% for the past five years.) In particular, many students graduating from the college's Regional Development Business Course in the Department of Agricultural Business transfer into the junior year in the at Takushoku University in the Faculty of Commerce, the Faculty of Political Science and Economics, or the Faculty of International Studies. The college curriculum is organized according to the first two years of study at Takushoku University so that students can smoothly transition into their university studies. Students are also provided with thorough one-on-one support for transferring to the desired post-college program. One of the features of this course is that students from all over the country enter Takushoku University Hokkaido College each year aiming to transfer into a four-year university such as Takushoku University.
